A Hard Deal.

In this morning's Times an article entitled "Serving on a Jury," does some of Ei Paso's business citizens a great injustice in reporting a complaint of one of the jurymen who served on the Andreas Molina case. The Times quotes the juryman as follows: When we had retired to consider the case, the opinion as to what punishment should be given the defendant varied from five years to twenty years: others were in favor of lifteen, ten and so on, down to five. The professional jurors with their visious of three equare means at the Vendome and the $2 a day were beat on keeping us out as long as possible, and we who were losing four or five times $2 a day, finally had to come to their terms in order to get away and get back to no street. Address box 505, City.

J. W. Page, J. M. Jacobs and George Allen, neither of whom could be called professional jurymen in any sense of the term. The two former have a number of men in their employ and the two latter are employed by parties who need their continuous services. consequently no doubt that each of the four lost as neavily by the jury being tied up as the juror wno complained to the City Council By a Petitioner. The city council met last night, in a long sleepy session, in which the al-dermen severally and aggregatively came near having to punch each other in the ribs to keep awage. The clerk only managed to keep his eyes open by smoking three strong 'long nines.' Chief of Police L ckhart opened the ball by rising to blandly ancounce that since he had made his little kick to just sent six car loads of cattle to Gar- the council about the the non-pressure of water in the low line hydrants, there had been a sudden and marvelous increase of pressure, so that with but three exceptions, the dydrants of the city were all up to the proper pressure A complete line of blank books, tab- mark. The cutef of the fire departiets, and fine toilet articles. M. H. ment had been with them, and they carried a gauge.

Did the water company furnish the ed rooms for light housekeeping, or asked if by a redistribution of the small house; nothing below San Antoengine connections. City Attorney Kemp then appeared on the lecture platform, and held the council in breathless suspense for an hour or more with four romantic serials en-titled ordinances providing for the issuance of the new bonus and for the holding of an election to ratify or reject the same. In the way of an annex or scholium to the proposition was goods and will sell same cheaper than also offered a proclamation by his school entertainment at the Baptist ever. Mantels, chimneys and repairs bonor the mayor calling for such election. The first ordinance related to the school bonds of $20,000, fifteen be ing for a new school house in ward 2. given Saturday hight by the Baphist and five for improvements on the Mesa and five for improvements of the M school house. Then followed the outside and grade committee:

dinanace providing for $30,000 with the control of the control o present outstanding indebtedness of five years, and agree to set in grass the city not otherwise provided for, and trees as may be agreeable to your The city attorney said he had con-bonorable body, under the same rules sulted with the assessor and collector and found that a levy of one mill on the dollar for each is ue of bonds was amply sufficient to provide for the same. The ordinances were adopted, and the election, the politing places being -ward 1, city hall; ward 2, hose house on Kansas street; ward 3, Purte le's gauge?" was asked. "No sir, they did not," the chief re plied, "we secured one at the city hall and nad it tested before we set out." The speaker called attention to the need of a new hydrant at the corner of Rio Grande and Stanton streets, at the nospital corner where the pressure showed only 55 pounds, and which had no engine connection. The water company had agreed to make the necessary change without extra charge. The required pressure in the bydrants was 70 pounds. Chief Connors of the fire department recommended that new hydrants be placed at the corner of North Oregon and Rio Grande and at Missouri and Ochoa streets. Those parts of the city are being settled up very fast and additional fire protection was called for. There were locations on the north side where 1800 feet of nose would be necessary in order to nose would be necessary in order to one year from its date. The city council to have the power to revoke council to have the power to revoke there would be no pressure at the pipe end of the line. Chief Connors was protected parts of the city could not be properly reached without increasing the number, but Chief Connors said there was only one hydrant that might be dispensed with or located elsewhere, and that was the one on El Paso street near Kohiberg's store. It was decided that the fire and water committee and the mayor should go over the ground and see where hydrants were needed, also that all new fire plugs should have

The Indian Outbreak. STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, Oct. 28-via Wolcott, Col., October 29. -A courier has just arrived here bringing a mes-sage from Game Warden Wilcox to Sheriff Nieman asking for help. The Indians have burned Thompson's ranch near Cross Mountain, and killed Gable, a messenger sent out by Wilcox. The latter tried to arrest the Indians for violating the game law, but they re-sisted and began to fight. Five Inilans were killed and one chief mortally wounded. The Indians had stacks of green deer hides in their posession and were slaughtering on all sides. The fight occured ninety miles west of Steamboat Springs in Routt county. One hundred determined men are now on their way to aid the sheriff Set-tlers are gathering at Vaughn's ranch and Atlay. The Indians are threatening to pillage and murder and the squaws have been sent back to the reservation, while re-enforcements are coming for the Indians.
